

Maxence Bizien started his career in security management in 2002. For 11 years within an insurance company in France, he successively held the positions of security manager and then risk and compliance manager, in charge of insurance fraud strategy and the special investigation unit.

Since March 2018, he has been leading the Agency for the fight against insurance fraud (ALFA), which is a not-for-profit in the French insurance association ecosystem.

Nearly 350 companies are part of ALFA. Maxence Bizien is also a member of the executive committee of the Global Insurance Fraud Summit (GIFS) in charge of communication.
